Subject: "Comment Letter - Draft Vector Control Permit."

Goodmorning
Regarding comments
please reference the following web site www.californiacompliant.com the use of pesticides as determined to control vegetation and disrupt vector habitat can be acomplished with selective and controlled management of open channel vegetation, but also controls on storm outlets and inlets to reduce available habitat for breeding must be considered.
A combined effort of managing urban creeks and the storm inlet will reduce costs and insure proper timing on vegetation control coincides with vector breeding cycle. Disrupt the cycle and manage aquatic growth with H-M-O. Instal linlets and install outfall flappers to prevent critter and vector access from urban creeks. Address sewer gap as required.

Plans and methods can be found, google patent or wikipatent "COLSON, Cameron"
