Is the state bureaucracy still unaware that the ever-increasing regulatory burden on California businesses are killing businesses & jobs in our state?

Is the state bureaucracy that out of touch with reality?

You cannot continue increasing regulations without causing severe negative economic impacts to California—both to citizens, businesses, state & local governments!

So please:

1. Do an economic impact analysis which I believe is required by CEQA.
2. Actually seriously try to consider the economic impacts and unintended consequences of any new regulations.
3. Use common sense (unfortunately lacking in most governmental actions) and weigh the "benefits" of the regulation vs. the "costs" to businesses, consumers, and taxpayers. Please keep in mind that ALL costs passed on to businesses WILL be passed on to consumers.
