

Ms. Bean,

When the Governor announced the mandatory water use cut back, he clearly stated agriculture would not be asked to cut back any more. He never stated there would be different considerations for agriculture in different parts of the state.

We produce more than one billion dollars in farm gate value in this county. We are in the top ten ag producing counties in the United States. Surely this constitutes agriculture in the sense of the Governor's announcement.

In the interest of fairness please rescind your arbitrary and capricious decision to consider San Diego agriculture to be landscape. Agriculture in this county has responded to water shortages in previous years at considerable cost to our businesses. Please accept an invitation to come to San Diego County to see our real agriculture.
