Comments: Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Emergency Regulations for Statewide Urban Water Conservation. There never has been, nor is there today, a shortage of water in San Diego county. The emergency declaration as it applies to San Diego county is offensive, restricts rights to life, commerce, and property that the rate payers of this county have paid to enjoy. It is a gross overreach by state government and an intrusion on freedom to have this emergency declaration in force in this county. The state is engaged in something other than good government and good policy through the ignoring of the reality of the water supply situation in San Diego county. Please rectify this illegitimate action by removing all reference to a water emergency in San Diego county, and allow the rate payers to decide what they want to use, and how they want to pay for it.
