Dear Mr. Thaler

Thank you for accepting comments on the issue of the Klamath Hydroelectric project certification process. I think the Klamath Hydroelectric Settlement Agreements speak for themselves: The vast majority of stakeholders want these dams removed. PacificCorp, the owners of the dams have stated that dam removal is their 'preferred path' (Herald and News, Jan 22, 2016). These dams are old, outdated, expensive to replace and update, and do not provide enough electricity to pay for themselves. Please move forward in the process of removing these dams by not re-certifying them.

Thank you

Mark Hereford
