

AIS Non-Compliance

Non-compliance is defined as any intentional or unintentional use of a non-domestic iron or steel product that is covered under the AIS requirement. Note that non-domestic iron or steel items may be used temporarily but must be removed before project completion.

- ❖ Example: Installing a non-domestic butterfly valve as a placeholder until the domestic valve is delivered and installed in its place.